Student's Letter (Excerpt):

Hello host family, my name is Luis and we will meet properly in 1 year from now, I'm a 15 year old sophomore student at a local school here in my hometown. I'm really looking forward to this experience and really get to know your culture and meet new people and learn all about your traditions and lifestyles. Also I would love to improve my English skills. I do know that going into an exchange takes a lot of responsibility and I want to prove to my parents and to myself that I am capable of doing things by myself.

Let me tell you a little bit about me. My family consists of my parents and both of my sisters. We are a very close family. Oh, and let's not forget my beautiful dogs, they were Christmas gifts. We found them under the Christmas tree when we woke up. I remember it as one of the best days of my life.

My favorite classes are mathematics, English, history, I have nice skills for theatre, I've been in several plays and I would actually like to act in some plays over there.

I like spending my free time and my vacation periods practicing some sports such as soccer, and a little bit of tennis. I also like playing some videogames, even though I'm not the best at them. My family usually goes to this nice little town, and I swear it's one of the most beautiful places on Earth, also, my mom grew up there with my grandparents. I enjoy watching tv shows and movies with my sisters. Fun fact, I really like building puzzles with my family, we think it's a nice way to stay away from our phones and interact with each other as a family.

I really care a lot about my family, I plan to study something that has to do with Chemistry or math. My parents are very close to me, and I couldn't be more grateful for them and I think I have a really good relationship with mom and dad.

I would like to be in kokomo dorms because I think that there I could learn to be totally independent, as well as being able to live with people from other cultures and learn about them. I would love to learn a bunch of new things and just live a normal life in a normal school and just live my teenage years at their highest.

I hope time goes by quickly and that we get to meet soon, oh, and also I hope you like me. I can't wait to start a new school year in such an amazing country.

I think that's pretty much it for now, I hope you liked who I am and choose me, I wish to have lots of fun and learn a lot about you and your lifestyle.

Sincerely yours,

Luis
